

Аннотация

Курс по выбору: «Российско-американские отношения» (на английском языке)

U.S. – Russia Relations

Course goals: to give students of the MA program “International Relations” knowledge about traditions and contemporary development of the U.S. - Russia relations.

Course objectives: students will study main periods, events, episodes of relations between Russia and the United States throughout history; analyze main problems in the relations during the last decade, make conclusions on possible future scenarios for the relations.

Course requirements: Students supposed to have basic training in history and international relations, have a good command of English.

Anticipated outcomes: Course graduates get an ability to put contemporary events in U.S. – Russia relations in historical perspective, evaluate a role of different factors and structural forces in international political and economic system, analyze foreign policy decision-making in Russia and the United States, learn about the most important historical and contemporary Russian and American policymakers. In addition, they get an ability to work in the capacity of experts on many important international conflicts of the last decade, in which Russia and the United States were involved.